Charlotte loves to play wedding and she loves any little playsets. The Sevi Eco-Friendly Play Set family is the perfect set for little girls this holiday season. Charlotte had a lot of fun helping her dad put this fun set together. She played Here Comes the Bride and pretended she was a flower girl! Charlotte especially loved the people and the car!

“Here comes the bride! With her bouquet in hand, your little one will guide this blushing bride down a pink aisle to her grinning groom, while friends and relatives watch and cheer.

The white chapel, and the rest of the set, is made from a newly designed and eco-friendly material that is non-toxic and recyclable. With pops of greenery and flowers, the set showcases it’s eco-friendly status while operating as an ideal wedding venue.

This 77-piece set is easily assembled and includes the chapel, aisle with arched entry, a pink car, a bride, groom, flower girl, and several other onlookers. In addition to using three-dimensional thinking, patience, dexterity and motor skills during the build, storytelling will certainly be promoted as your child explores the love story that led up to the nuptials!

Now in their 184th year, Sevi is Europe’s oldest wooden toy manufacturer. With all of their designs originating with specially trained toy designers in Italy, Sevi products are then produced in the Far East in a Trudi-run factory employing local artisans under fair and safe working conditions.

All of Sevi’s products are extremely durable, eco-friendly, and kid safe. Each has been thoroughly and rigorously tested by an independent lab to meet or exceed all European and US federal regulations for children’s toys. Parents never need to worry about the quality or safety of any Sevi product.

Additionally, Sevi abides by 10 of their own unique commandments which focus on the design, quality, and educational benefits of the finished product. Sevi has long chosen wood as their primary medium because it is “a living, natural material,” but in recent years they’ve begun introducing other child- and eco-friendly materials as well! “Love nature, play wood, enjoy Sevi.”” (Bonjour Petit website)
